

GymPro

GymPro is a website focused on providing guides on working out in the gym. GymPro will be a reference for anyone who wants to track their progress in the gym and look for potential ways to improve efficiency. Topics covered would include different workout routines, guides to bulking and cutting, and an exercise tracker. The goal is to have the website to be useful for users of all levels of gym experience. There will likely be more than five pages but the main five would follow as so:

- Main Page
- About Us
- Progress Tracker
- Workout Routines
- Diets

There will be user accounts and therefore data storage. Users should hold login values like email and password, and the progress tracker will take user input and store it so that it can be accessed later. There could also be a possibility where we have reviews for different exercises and diets that users can leave.
